Modernising Medical Careers 1 set out the current UK medical training pathway, envisaging that doctors would move seamlessly between foundation years (F1 and F2) and specialty training. There has been a steady decline in the number of doctors doing so, from 83% in 2010 2 to 42.6% in 2017. 3 The year following F2, away from the UK training pathway, is informally termed an 'F3' year.

Why are UK junior doctors taking time out of training and ...
